TODAY & TOMORROW

RUSH — TIME DATED

The Seventh Annual Franz Buschke Lecturer will be Malcolm A. Bagshaw, professor and chairman, Department of Radiology and director, Radiation Therapy, Stanford. Bagshaw will present "An Experience with Negative Pi Mesons in the Treatment of Cancer," on Thursday, April 24, in 301 HSW, at 5 p.m. On Friday, April 25, his lecture will be "A Plan for the Hyperthermic Treatment of Cancer," held at 11 a.m. in the Tumor Institute Conference Room, Mount Zion Hospital Medical Center.

The main Buschke lecture will be "Changing Concepts of the Prostate," at 6 p.m. on April 25, in the Yosemite Room, Four Seasons-Clift Hotel, S.F. A banquet will follow the lecture. For further information and reservations contact Nancy Nienhuis, x4815.

The lectureship, which honors Dr. Buschke, professor emeritus, Radiation Oncology, was established in the Department of Radiation Oncology seven years ago as a means of presenting distinguished lecturers to address current topics in the field of radiotherapy. The lectureship is supported by funds from private donors.

Langley Porter Psychiatric Institute Alumni-Faculty Association will hold its third annual meeting on Saturday, April 12. The program, on "Cultural Diversity: Challenges for the 1980's," will be held in Room 721 N beginning at 8 a.m. and will seek to explore the psychodynamic interaction between culture and personality situations. Speakers will present papers on current work with Asians, Afro-Americans, and Latinos.

For reservation and program information call x7-395.

The use of antibiotics in preventive treatment of infectious diseases will be explored in depth during a continuing education course on Thursday and Friday, April 10-11, at the Hyatt Hotel in Union Square.

The course, "Advances in Infectious Diseases," presented by Extended Programs in Medical Education and Continuing Education, School of Pharmacy, is designed for practicing physicians and surgeons, clinical pharmacists and other interested health professionals, and health workers.

Ten infectious disease specialists and a guest lecturer, Jay P. Sanford, dean, School of Medicine, Uniformed Health Service, Bethesda, comprise the faculty. Program chairmen are John E. Conte, Jr., chief, Infectious Diseases, Moffitt and John Mills, chief, Infectious Diseases, SFGH.

For registration information call x2894; program information, x4251.

Employees may continue their group health and/or life insurance coverage, while on a leave of absence without pay, by paying the necessary premiums directly to the Accounting Office. Employees are not required to keep the coverage while on leave of absence, but the opportunity to do so is available.

Insurance is not automatically reinstated when an employee returns. An enrollment form must be submitted to the Accounting Office noting a return from leave of absence.

The California Policy Seminar is accepting abstracts of research proposals from faculty members and staff researchers for its next funding cycle. Deadline date is April 1.

The Seminar is a cooperative research effort between UC and the legislature on policy issues facing California. Each research project is funded at $50,000 over a two-year period, and is a unique opportunity for University faculty to provide research for California citizens and to serve the wider community.

To apply for the 1980-81 funding cycle, submit on a CPS abstract form, a short description of the policy or issue to be researched. The Seminar will commission the most promising abstracts for development as 30 to 40 page policy papers. For further information call 8-582-5514 or contact John Cummins, California Policy Seminar, 109 Moses Hall, UC-Berkeley, CA 94720.

A major remodeling project for the School of Dentistry will require the closing of the 6th and 7th floors from the western-most stairway of the Medical Sciences Building to immediately east of the Clinical Sciences building elevators. Construction is scheduled to begin in late March, 1980 and end in June, 1981. A temporary hoistway will be erected on Parnassus Avenue in front of the Clinical Sciences building for delivery and removal of construction materials.

DEADLINE

Deadline for the next issue of Today & Tomorrow, which will cover the period April 12-25, will be Tuesday, April 1, 11 a.m. Please send your copy to Allen Balderson, News Services Dept., 1475-4th Ave., x1541.

A State-wide Earthquake Disaster Exercise will be held on Friday, April 18. The drill, taking place on the anniversary of the 1906 quake, assumes that "an earthquake with a magnitude of 8.3 on the Richter scale" hits the S.F. area, causing massive casualties and damage.

All hospitals and medical centers in the Bay Area will participate. UCSF's emergency plan, under the direction of John Conte, Emergency Room director, will go into effect at approximately 10:50 a.m. and end at 3 p.m.

The overall plan also calls for National Guard troops and helicopters to bring additional medical personnel to Golden Gate Park.

Approximately 250 moulaged "victims," (employee and community volunteers) will be sent to the primary triage site in the lobby of Medical Sciences building. Psychiatric, critical care, expectant, holding, and morgue areas will be set up in various hospital locations.

Campus employees who can be spared are encouraged to volunteer their services by calling x4372 before April 18. Supervisors should be consulted about arrangements.

A special noon lecture and discussion will be held Tuesday, April 1, at noon in Cole Hall to familiarize the campus community with the plan as well as the general disruption caused by the drill. The lecture will emphasize the importance of a major facility such as UCSF in an emergency, and the necessity for preparedness.

A series of six educational seminars on Proposition 9 (Jarvis II), explaining what's in it and what it could mean to the university, the community, and to you as an individual, will be held in Cole Hall, Wednesday, April 30 and Friday, May 2, three sessions each day: 7:30 to 8:30 a.m., noon to 1 p.m., and 4 to 5 p.m.

All six sessions will present the same program: A representative from "Citizens for California" will describe Proposition 9; followed by representatives from the Academic Senate, a student from California Council for Student Educational Needs, and campus administration, speaking on the probable effects of Proposition 9.

There will be an opportunity to ask questions.

All students, staff and faculty are invited to attend; there is no admission.

In addition, UCSF Continuing Education in Health Sciences is sponsoring an off-campus, one-day educational symposium for the public on "Proposition 9 and the Health of Californians," Saturday, April 26, at the Fort Mason Conference Center, Building A. Speakers will include Assemblyman Willie Brown, Jr.; Les Kelting, state-wide coordinator for the passage of Proposition 9; Rollin Post, political reporter for KRON-TV, Channel 4; Beverlee Myers, director, State Department of Health Services; Maureen Fitzgerald, writer for the California Journal; and A. Alan Post, former California legislative analyst.

Fee will be $15, including box lunch. For further information call x3904.

NEWS BRIEFS

The U.S. Census will begin a population count on April 1. All U.S. households will receive a questionnaire at the end of March, to be returned on or before the April 1 date. The answers provided in the questionnaires are combined into total statistics that are used to determine how many people need what services. Census questions seek basic information, including sex, occupation, age, etc., and responses are strictly confidential.

According to Thomas Gwyn, director of Public Service Programs, who has been appointed by Mayor Feinstein as chairman of the Complete Count Committee in S.F., "I hope that everyone on campus is aware of the importance of full participation in the 1980 census and the effect that the census can have on some federal and state funding allocations. The Complete Count Committee is greatly concerned with insuring a full count, especially in those low income and non-English-speaking communities in San Francisco, where substantial undercounts have been experienced in the past."

The Clinical Scholars Program has been awarded a $925,288 three-year continuation grant from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation. The Clinical Scholars Program, operated jointly by UCSF and Stanford, is a graduate physician training program designed to train participants to develop research capabilities in non-biological subjects pertinent to health care, broaden the medical school curricula to encompass these subject areas, and develop new academic and community health care programs.

Graduate physicians are selected for their potential for scholarly investigation and the importance of the subject in which they are interested. The UCSF-Stanford program, first funded in 1974, accepts six graduate physicians annually. They participate for two years.

Nominations are now being sought for the Twelfth Annual Kaiser Awards for Excellence in Teaching, established by the Henry J. Kaiser Family Foundation. This year three awards of $750 each will be presented: one to a member of the volunteer clinical faculty, one to a fulltime faculty member in a clinical department, and one to a member of the fulltime faculty in a basic science department.

The awards are open to any member of the faculty of the School of Medicine who is active in the teaching of undergraduate medical students and/or house staff. Nominations are solicited from students, house staff, and faculty. Winners of the annual student class teaching awards will be considered automatically nominated.

Nominations should include a brief description of the teaching efforts of the nominee, documentation of the effectiveness of presentation, ability to stimulate student interest and self-education, and any other documentation that may be helpful to the committee. Multiple nominations of a single candidate are not required, but supporting letters from students and peers of the nominee are advantageous. Send nominations to the Dean's office, School of Medicine, S 224 before April 11.

The Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation Training function (CPR) has been moved from the Hospitals and Clinics Training Office to the Development and Training Unit. Faculty and staff required by law to be CPR certified will continue to receive priority consideration for CPR training. However, plans now are being developed to offer CPR training on an expanded basis to other campus personnel, beginning later this year.

There was an assault and rape on campus the night of March 18. There was another incident in the neighborhood in January. Golden Gate Park has been the scene of numerous assaults. Members of the campus community are urged to exercise extreme caution in isolated campus areas especially at night. Chancellor Sooy has directed all departments to review their office procedures to eliminate the need for women going into deserted areas unescorted at night.

As part of the ongoing Rape Prevention Program coordinated by Amy Levine, a Campus Committee on Personal Safety has been instituted to make recommendations to improve the safety of all persons on campus. Chairperson is Miriam Gould of Student Health Services. For further information on the Rape Prevention Program call x5683.

Any suspicious characters seen on campus should be reported immediately to the Police Department at x1414.

A Phased Retirement Program now is available for UC academic employees who are at least age 60 and who have 20 or more years of total University service credited in one or more of the University's retirement programs.

Under the Phased Retirement Program, a faculty member otherwise subject to mandatory retirement on July 1 of a given year, agrees to reduce from a full-time appointment to part time until retiring fully, which can occur at any time up to age 70. The salary paid for part-time service is based on the regular full-time rate for the position held. All of the specifics are spelled out in a written agreement between the individual and the administration.

Details of the coverage can be found in a brochure available by contacting Diane Dillon, x1881.

Francis I. Proctor Foundation Fellows are invited to submit interesting case reports for possible presentation at the Association of Proctor Fellows Sixth Annual Meeting, June 12 and 13. Mathea Allansmith, a former Proctor fellow and an associate professor of Ophthalmology at Harvard Medical School, will be the guest of honor. Phillips Thygeson, professor emeritus and research ophthalmologist, will be the Elizabeth C. Proctor Lecturer.

A brief summary accompanied by five slides or less should be sent to Gilbert Smolin, clinical professor, Ophthalmology, Francis I. Proctor Foundation, Room S 315, before May 12. For further information call x1441.

The Second Annual John J. Sampson Visiting Lecturer in Cardiology is Myron L. Weisfeldt, Robert L. Levy Professor of Cardiology and director, Cardiology Division, Johns Hopkins University.

Weisfeldt will be in San Francisco for a three-day round of lectures. He will speak at Mount Zion Hospital and Medical Center on "Prediction of Outcome of Mycocardial Infarction," on Monday, April 14, at 9 a.m. in Herbst Hall. His second lecture, "Manipulation of Intrathoracic Pressure During Cardiac Arrest and Severe Cardiac Failure," will be at SFGH in Carr Auditorium on the same day at 1 p.m.

On Tuesday, April 12 at 11 a.m., in the VA Medical Center Auditorium, Bldg. 7, Weisfeldt will lecture on "Age Changes in Cardiovascular Function." His final lecture will be at Medical Grand Rounds on Wednesday, April 16 in Cole Hall, at 10:30 a.m., where he will speak on "Prediction of Outcome in Acute Myocardial Infarction."

The lecture series, established in 1978, honors John J. Sampson, UCSF clinical professor of Medicine and senior physician at Mount Zion. One of the world's leading cardiologists and past president of the American Heart Association, he has been associated with UCSF for over 50 years.

Lloyd H. Smith, Jr., professor and chairman, Department of Medicine has been appointed a Macy Faculty Scholar for 1980-81. The Josiah Macy, Jr. Foundation awards are made to senior faculty members from twenty-one medical schools in the U.S. and Canada, to support six months to one year of concentrated research and study at institutions in ten foreign countries and the U.S. Smith will be studying medical education in Australia and New Zealand at the Universities of Sydney and Auckland, starting September 1980.

In the Faculty Scholars program's seven-year history, the Foundation has made 205 awards to faculty members from 67 institutions. The institutions with the largest number of recipients are Yale, eighteen; UCSF, twelve; Duke, nine; Harvard, nine; University of Colorado, eight; and Stanford, eight.

The basic mileage reimbursement rate for University travel by private automobile will be increased from 17¢ to 18-1/2¢ per mile, effective April 1. The optional mileage reimbursement rate of 21¢ per mile will continue to be available with the required certification.

An urgent plea for kidney donors is being issued by the UCSF Kidney Transplant Service. More than 400 people in northern California currently are on the waiting list for kidney transplants at UCSF. Many have been waiting for several years. The most critical need is for cadaver donors for transplants for children. The UCSF Kidney Transplant Service, the largest program of its kind in the world, performs an average of 150 kidney transplants a year, with one-third involving living related donors. All other transplant surgery relies on cadaver kidneys. For further information on kidney donation call x1551.
